Promptings

Fred B. Craddock, who taught generations of preachers, was a master story-teller. Here's one of my favorites.

Rear Admiral Thornton Miller came into my life in my younger years. I was a freshman at Johnson Bible College, and Rear Admiral Miller came and spoke in chapel and talked to some of us boys after chapel. He was the highest ranking chaplain in the military at the time. He looked great in that uniform. He had been at Normandy on the June day of the slaughter, and he described it that evening in the dorm to some of us, of going from soldier to soldier, screaming, dying, trying to say a few words of comfort and have prayer.

Someone asked, "Up and down the beach, with the shells going everywhere? Why did you do that?" His answer: "I'm a minister."

And the person began again, "But didn't you ask if they were Catholic or Protestant or Jew? Did you just...I mean, if you're a minister..."

Now get this. Rear Admiral Miller said, "If you're a minister, the only question you ask is, 'Can I help you?'"

Seems to me that's good advice from a faithful servant of God not only for ministers, but for all Christians and the church.
